

Lisa Szabo-Jones (2018) photographs Hiromi Goto at the sandstone caves on Galiano Island, BC, in the Salish Sea. The photograph was taken during a climate change writing workshop organized by Cate Sandilands.

A Journal of Canadian Literary and Cultural Studies

ISSN 2254-1179

VOL. 8 (2019)

Table of contents

Counterclockwise.

Special issue edited by Larissa Lai, Neil Surkan, and Joshua Whitehead

“Introduction: Counterclockwise”
Larissa Lai, Neil Surkan, and Joshua Whitehead..... 3

Articles

“Indigenous Modernism: Dehabituating Reading Practices”
Madeleine Reddon 9

“Sometimes Clocks Turn Back for Us to Move Forward: Reflections on Black and Indigenous Geographies”
Nadine Chambers..... 21

“Want to Be a Superior Man?’ The Production of Chinese Canadian Masculinities in Paul Yee’s Writing”
Lindsay Diehl 40

“Port Rupture(s) and Cross-Racial Kinships in Dionne Brand and Lee Maracle”
Tavleen Purewal 51

“Archives Undone: Towards a Poethics of Feminist Archival Disruptions”
Erin E. Wunker 61

“Refusing to Listen and Listening to Refusal: Dialogue, Healing, and Rupture in Green Grass, Running Water”
Gage Karahkwi:io Diabo..... 74

Reflections

“The Olive Tree and the Palestinian Struggle Against Settler-Colonialism”
Rehab Nazzal 86

Creative Writing

“Afterlife”
Gwen Benaway 94

“15 words for power” and other poems
Julia Polyck-O’Neill..... 98

“n/w/s/e” and “17th ave / 16th st”
Trynne Delaney 102

“Excerpt from The Sleeping Car Porter (a novel-in-progress)”
Suzette Mayr 104

“That’s the Way I Always Heard it Should Be”
Ryan Fitzpatrick..... 108

“What Might This Be” and “Black Hole”
Gregory Betts 111

“Throw It Over Your Shoulder If It’s Heavy”
Noor Naga 114